

Champagne & Sparkling Wine

Louis Roederer – Champagne

Striking a perfect balance between youthfulness and maturity, seduction and character, freshness and vinosity, Brut Premier is a champagne that is structured, elegant and lively, with a unique exuberance. Its structured texture, richness, and length are distinctly winery. It is a full, complex wine that is both rich and powerful, whilst remaining a great classic.

Camel Valley – Cornwall

Camel Valley is owned by ex RAF pilot Bob Lindo along with his wife Annie. They started in 1989 with eight thousand vines and have scooped several awards during their 27 years of production. Joyful, pretty and too easy to drink. Wild strawberries and violets dominate here. Dame Judi Dench is apparently a regular at Camel Valley so we reckon she has pretty good taste.

'Perfect for Alfresco' Whites Classics and old favourites....

Domaine de Ricaud - Entre-deux-Mers

Bordeaux Blanc has almost become a forgotten wine which is surprising considering the popularity of the Sauvignon Blanc grape. This tasty example is a blend of zingy, fresh Sauvignon and the weightier, honeyed Semillon with a dash of fruity Muscadelle thrown in. Perfectly balanced and lovely with cold meats and afternoons in the sun.

Calmel & Joseph – Languedoc

Picpoul de Pinet is a designated cru within the Languedoc region for the production of white made from Picpoul grape variety. The wine has gained popularity as consumers have been looking for dry, fresh styles in combination with the region modernising its production methods. Light, dry, fresh and zippy this is a perfect fish wine or a refreshing change to Pinot Grigio! The Chardonnay from Calmel & Joseph is superb! It's partially oaked, really well priced and a versatile supper wine.

Sauvignon Blanc is very well suited to the 'Silex' soils in the Loire. These soils are a mixture of flint, clay and limestone and are known to be the best for extracting a delicious minerality and gun flint aroma in the resulting wine. The ageing on its lees brings a richness but to top it off, the delicate fruit and floral aromas make it feel like sunshine in a glass!

Domaine Gilbert Picq - Chablis

Brothers Didier and Pascal Picq (sons of Gilbert), run this high quality 13 hectare estate in Chichée, 3km south of the town of Chablis. Didier is the winemaker and Pascal takes care of the vineyards. They are working towards gaining organic certification with the use of sulphur kept to a minimum and only natural yeasts used. They use no oak, with all fermentation and ageing carried out in stainless steel. The result is an opulent style that still retains freshness and minerality. Finding value in Burgundy is no easy task but a good starting point is the village of Marsannay next to the great Gevrey-Chambertin. Land prices have historically been cheaper which has attracted younger, ambitious growers like Sylvain Pataille, who is a fully qualified oenologist. Now with 13 hectares, Sylvain makes wines of great class that are attracting a lot of attention.

Saladini Pilastrì – Marche – Italy

This beautiful estate dating back to the 1400's really impressed us. The estate is located in the south of the visually stunning Marche region, which sits on the east coast of central Italy. The climate here is Mediterranean with hot, dry summers tempered by the maritime influence of the Adriatic Sea only 8km away from the vineyards. All the farming is organic. A wonderful blend of Trebbiano, Passerina and Pecorino. Full, citrus, white pear, fresh apricot, mineral - better than many Pinot Grigios. A cracking 'everyday' wine!

La Guardiense – Campania - Italy

La Guardiense was founded in 1960 by 33 farmers and now has around 1,000 members who cultivate 1,500 hectares on hilly soils at an average height of 350 metres. Production is centred on the local varieties of Aglianico, Fiano, Falanghina and Greco. The range we have bought is called Janare and it focuses on grapes from the sub region of Sannio DOP. Pale lemon coloured with a nose showing hints of honey, white flowers and peach. Dry and quite full on the palate, with crisp acidity and creamy white fruits. Long and bold on the finish.

Nunzio Ghiraldi – Lombardia - Italy

Rather confusingly, the grape variety used is called Trebbiano di Lugana which is in fact Verdicchio and not the light workhorse of Italian white wine that is Trebbiano. Nunzio Ghiraldi has taken full advantage of this grape, along with the area's flat glacial plain and warm climate, moderated by the cooling breezes of Lake Garda, to produce wines of richness and real interest. Complex, lime tree blossom, lemon grass, super herbaceous - Our antidote to New Zealand Sauvignon.

La Monacesca – Marche - Italy

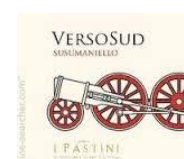

Aldo Cifola runs this 22ha estate which is no stranger to winning the 'Three Glass' top award from Gambero Rosso. There is no rocket science here: just low yielding, late harvest, old vine Verdicchio sourced from a marvellous parcel high in the Apennines. The cold nights and hot days in the Matelica valley deliver a rare balance of lively acidity and high alcohol reminiscent of Burgundy. None of the white wines sees any oak as Aldo believes that barrel ageing is superfluous if the quality of fruit is sufficient. It is hard to find good Italian white wine and this is amongst the very best. An amazing white with sliced pear, apple and cream. Wonderful richness. It's full bodied, very layered and stylish. A petrol, candle-wax and dried-apricot character.

The winery "I Pàstini" was born in 1996 and is located in the heart of the Itria Valley (the valley of the trulli) in Puglia. Using ancient winemaking traditions and with the help of modern winemaking techniques, the Carparelli family are producing wines that express the new face of local wine production. The main aim is to restore and enhance local grape varieties: Fiano Minutolo, Bianco d'Alessio, Verdeca, Susumaniello and Primitivo. We think I Pastini does just that. The Locorotondo is thirst quenching on a warm day with crispy aromatic fruit, whilst the Minutolo 'Rampone' is richer and more honeyed. Perfect with some antipasti.

I stumbled across these wines by accident when hanging out at Hotel Aiguaclara in Begur. The label, quality and price make the hair on the back of my neck stand up! The winery is located in the Salnes Valley and is a joint venture between eight small growers who own 70 ha of Albarino between them. Both wines are equally excellent in their own right with classic fresh, lemony, minerally fruit. The Nai e Senora is the fresher style whilst the Terra de Asorei is aged on its lees for three months to add weight and richer fruit. We couldn't decide which was better so we bought both!

Casas del Bosque – Casablanca Valley - Chile

Casas del Bosque was founded in 1993 by Juan Cuneo Solari and was one of the first wineries in the Casablanca Valley. Today it is still family-owned and managed. The Solaris have 245 hectares of vines in Santa Rosa on the west side of the Casablanca Valley. Their Cabernet Sauvignon is produced from their own 35 year old vines growing in Quinta Tilcoco in the more southerly Rapel Valley. For us, the wines had the perfect balance of ripe fruit and subtle elegance making them refined rather than sweet fruit bombs.

The Chardonnay is delicious & well balanced from the cooler Casablanca Valley. Ripe pear, citrus, walnut and quince are fleshed-out by mineral notes and a subtle smoky aroma.

Miles Mossop Wines burst onto the scene in 2004. It is a family business with Miles Mossop (winemaker at Tokara winery) as winemaker and viticulturist. Production is limited to 15 tonnes in total, which results in 500 cases of the white and 500 cases of the red being produced. These are truly handcrafted wines showing pure fruit expression and with an emphasis on finesse, texture and length. The wines are made at the Tokara facility on the Helshoogte Pass in Stellenbosch where Miles is the full-time winemaker.

A dry white made from 66% Chenin blanc, 26% Viognier, 5% Verdehlo and 3% Clairette Blanche. The result is an opulent wine with white peach, lemon blossom, marzipan and ginger spice. There are underlying notes of buttered toast and lime zest.

Domaine l'Ancienne Ecole – Vinsobres

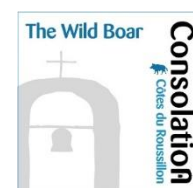

We spent all last year searching for a Côtes du Rhône we liked and had almost given up when out of the blue Tarquin met a chap called Bill Thorburn in Edinburgh. It turns out Bill's son, Wilson, and his wife, Anna, own a little estate called Domaine l'Ancienne Ecole just outside Vinsobres. "I'll get you samples", insists Bill. Now caution has to be taken here as it's not uncommon for one of us to meet someone who knows someone who makes wine. It normally ends with a polite email including the words, "they were not right for us" (i.e. they were substandard). Thankfully Wilson and Anna's wines were tremendous and we are proud to have them on our list. They are now certified organic from the 2014 vintage and their vineyards are in prime sites on the plateau above Vinsobres. Grenache dominated, the wines have excellent structure and above all are a pleasure to drink.

Mourvedre 'Dog Strangler' Collioure	2014	£27.49	£22.75

Mas Cristine - Roussillon

The beautiful old buildings of the Mas Cristine Estate look down to the shores of the Mediterranean and the town of Collioure. The estate is at the southern edge of the Côtes du Roussillon appellation and has complex soils of schist, quartz and clays. Vines were first planted here around 1810 and the property today has magnificent holdings of Syrah, Grenache, Roussanne, Marsanne and Muscat. We keep thinking these wines are expensive but every time we try them we are reminded how superb they are and, in comparison to the Rhône Valley, they represent excellent value.

Domaine Sainte Croix – Roussillon NEW!

Domaine Sainte Croix is owned and run by the English husband and wife team of Jon and Elizabeth Bowen. These are truly artisan wines crafted in an unfashionable area of France that has long been dominated by co-operative production. The gnarled vines are over 100 years old, production is organic and they even have a Natural wine (No sulphur) that is delicious. It's hard to describe them, you have to taste them!

Chateau Fonreud – Haut-Medoc

The beautifully elegant Chateau Fonreud is a Cru Bourgeois Chateau based in Listrac. This is the 2nd wine that is classed as Haut-Medoc, and is made from a blend of 52% Merlot, 45% Cabernet Sauvignon and 3% Petit Verdot. It is a lovely forward wine with ripe cassis, spicy notes and soft, juicy tannins.

Château Beau-Site – Saint-Estèphe

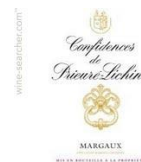

Château Beau-Site is classified as a Cru Grand Bourgeois Exceptionnel and is one of a number of properties in Bordeaux that have been producing attractive wines at equally attractive prices for many years. The blend is dominated by Cabernet Sauvignon and from the fine 2005 vintage. It is a medium-bodied effort with ripe cassis, cedar and tobacco notes.

Chateau Prieure-Lichine - Margaux

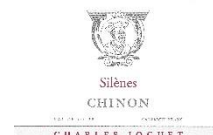

Chateau Prieure-Lichine is a large, fragmented 4th growth estate based in Margaux. They have 68 hectares of vineyards scattered over approx 40 separate plots all within the Margaux appellation. The high Merlot content in the wine gives it a suppleness and appealing approachability. Les Confidences is the estates's 2nd wine made from the younger vines and aged in 2nd and 3rd fill barrels.

Charles Joguet – Chinon

Joguet is the Neil Diamond of Chinon – he's kind of a big deal, the star attraction. He's retired now but his name lives on. The Chinon region has a diverse mix of soils and terroirs which give different expressions of the Cabernet Franc grape. The Silenes comes from grapes planted on Silica rich soils. It has a lovely balance of fruit and acid along with an underlying freshness and characteristic Cab Franc crunchy red fruit.

Domaine Sylvain Pataille - Marsannay

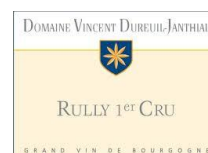

Finding value in Burgundy is no easy task but a good starting point is the village of Marsannay next to the great Gevrey-Chambertin. Land prices have historically been cheaper which has attracted younger, ambitious growers like Sylvain Pataille, who is a fully qualified oenologist. Now with 13 hectares, Sylvain makes wines of great class that are attracting a lot of attention.

Domaine Vincent Dureuil-Janthial - Rully

Vincent Dureuil's 17 hectare estate is spread across 20 appellations of Burgundy. The majority lie in excellent locations in the Côte Chalonnaise, close to the winery in Rully. Like most quality conscious Burgundy producers, Vincent practices both organic and biodynamic techniques. His wines are really setting the bar not only for Côte Chalonnaise, but also for the whole of Burgundy, and offer a smart alternative to some of the pricier northern appellations. The Celine label is a négociant bottling.

Domaine Tupinier-Bautista - Mercurey

The Tupinier family have been growing grapes in Mercurey since 1770. Since 1997 the domaine has been run by Manu Bautista who took over the reins from his stepfather Jacques Tupinier. Mercurey remains a relative bargain in Burgundy with earlier maturing reds that impress in their youth. Manu's Clos du Roy has a luxurious nose with vibrant red fruits, dark cherries and an inviting earthiness

San Valentino – Emilia Romagna

Emilia Romagna is one of Italy's wealthiest regions. It is a food lover's paradise being home to Parmigiano Reggiano, Modena balsamic vinegar, Parma ham and numerous pasta dishes including tortellini and lasagne. The region's wines are less well known but quality is high. San Valentino owner and winemaker Roberto Mascarin can afford to pick his Sangiovese later than his Tuscan counterparts due to the constant sea breeze which prevents rot. The chilly nights help retain acidity in the wine. The result is a fairly high alcohol wine which is perfectly balanced with fresh acidity. Soft juicy red fruit and lovely spicy notes make this wine the perfect alternative to Chianti.

La Guardiense – Campania

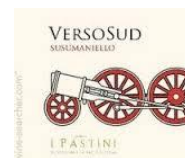

La Guardiense was founded in 1960 by 33 farmers and now has around 1,000 members who cultivate 1,500 hectares on hilly soils at an average height of 350 metres. Production is centred on the local varieties of Aglianico, Fiano, Falanghina and Greco. The range we have bought is called Janare and it focuses on grapes from the sub region of Sannio DOP. The wines are expressive and characterful and have the right blend of modern juicy fruit and rustic charm.

I Pastini – Puglia

The winery "I Pàstini" was born in 1996 and is located in the heart of the Itria Valley (the valley of the trulli) in Puglia. Using ancient winemaking traditions and with the help of modern winemaking techniques, the Carparelli family are producing wines that express the new face of local wine production. The main aim is to restore and enhance local grape varieties: Fiano Minutolo, Bianco d'Alessio, Verdeca, Susumaniello and Primitivo. We think I Pastini does just that. The whites are aromatic and rich in complexity. The reds are dark and intense with soft juicy red and dark berry fruits. These wines are exciting and bring a point of difference to anyone looking for something new.

Terra Firma – Sicily

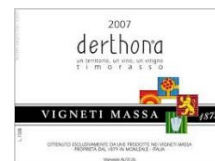

Nero d'Avola from its original home near Pachino can often be a little soupy so we've enlivened it with about 40% fruit sourced high in the mountains near Palermo; the wine is ripe and full-bodied but it still has a lively lick of acidity. It's enticing, plummy but elevated above the ranks of the bland and merely wet by genuine character.

Giuseppe Mascarello - Barolo

The Mascarello family have been making wine in Piedmont since 1881 and still hold on to many of the traditional winemaking methods, which are slowly dying out in the region as many other producers move to make a softer, earlier maturing style of wine. You won't find much new oak or many rotary fermenters around the winery as Giuseppe and his Dad, Mauro, still favour the old school approach of long macerations and extended maturation in large oak casks known as 'botte'.

Damilano – Piedmont

Damilano is one of Barolo's oldest wineries dating back to 1890 when Giuseppe Borgogno, the great grandfather of the wineries current owner, began to vinify his own estate wines. They produce several Barolo's but we have chosen the 'Lecinquevigne' which is a blend of Nebbiolo from five different vineyards located in the calcareous-clay soils of Barolo, Grinzane Cavour, Monforte and Novello. It drinks well young and has an expressive palate of leather, tobacco and rose petals.

Adalia – Veneto

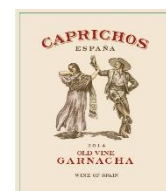

Adalia is a 5 ha estate located in the Val de Mezzane run by Marinella Camerani (of Corte St. Alda fame) and her daughter, Alda. Many of Italy's great wines have been a victim of their own success and Valpolicella is no exception. The medium-bodied fruity style has been loved by drinkers for decades and as our thirst grew so did the area's yields and production zone. Of course, quality and prices fell off a cliff! Alda's Valpolicella Ripasso Superiore will bring your faith back to this classic style. The wine is aged for one year – which classifies it as Superiore – and is made in the Ripasso style which involves using semi-dried grapes resulting in a stronger, fuller wine with more body and strength.

Madai – Bierzo

It was a great relief to find Bodegas Madai whose Mencia was bright, fresh, attractive and packed with crunchy, juicy red fruit. Mencia is a relatively unknown red grape variety which is widely planted in north-west Spain through the regions of Bierzo, Ribeira Sacra and Valdeorras. The style has similar characteristics to Cabernet Franc and in the best examples Pinot Noir. Lots of crunchy red fruit, lovely freshness and fragrant berry fruit.

Finca Torremilanos – Ribera del Duero

Established in 1903, Finca Torremilanos is Ribera del Duero's second oldest winery after Vega Sicilia. It was acquired by Bodegas Peñalba Lopez in 1975 and now consists of over 200 hectares on a variety of soils with a mixture of vines (25% of the vineyards are older than 60 and some as old as 150!), and planted with mainly Tinto Fino, which is the local name for Tempranillo. The focus with Vinlara is to produce a warm, rich, spicy wine for youthful drinking. It spends seven months in oak so has plenty of spice and body to go with the rich blackberry and plum fruit flavours.

Bodegas C. Valsangiacomo – Utiel-Requena, Valencia

Bobal is the native variety to Utiel-Requena. The vineyards are located 80km from the Mediterranean at 700m altitude. Concrete tanks are the chosen vessels to gently ferment the fruit of these very old vines (60 to 100 years old) resulting in a very elegant wine. We were really impressed with this wine - it is refreshingly different and really tasty.

Valpiculata - Toro

Juan Pablo Peñalba offers a solution to Toro's tannins - super-ripeness and oak. He has about 15 ha of low-yielding Tempranillo, all un-grafted and between 40 and 100 years of age. There's no irrigation even for newly planted young vines, only about 70% of which survive the first year: it's a tough life in Toro. Picking is by hand and fermentation is in small concrete vats with wild yeasts. Puertas Novas is approachable, supple, with fig and Christmas-pudding fruit and the oak well tucked in.

Marques de Murrieta - Rioja

Marques de Murrieta is one of the great names of Rioja. They don't mess around with basic wines and start at Reserva level. The 2012 is wonderful and shows the perfect balance of American oak aging and delicious, vibrant Tempranillo fruit. It's complex and full of finesse. A proper wine which is perfect with lamb, beef and roasts.

Cellar Cal Pla - Priorat

Cellar Cal Pla is situated in the village of Porrera in the heart of Priorat. The vineyards are high up with an altitude ranging between 300m–500m above sea level. The Cal Pla is a blend of Grenache, Carignan and Cabernet Sauvignon. It is aged for 13 months in 1-3 year old oak (majority French, some American), which results in a generous, heady, almost opulent wine that is packed with ripe dark berry fruit. The tannins are soft and the wine immensely drinkable.

Casas del Bosque – Casablanca Valley

Casas del Bosque was founded in 1993 by Juan Cuneo Solari and was one of the first wineries in the Casablanca Valley. Today it is still family-owned and managed. The Solaris have 245 hectares of vines in Santa Rosa on the west side of the Casablanca Valley. Their Cabernet Sauvignon is produced from their own 35 year old vines growing in Quinta Tilcoco in the more southerly Rapel Valley. For us, the wines had the perfect balance of ripe fruit and subtle elegance making them refined rather than sweet fruit bombs.

Manos Negras – Mendoza

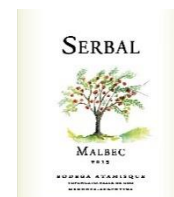

Manos Negras was started by Jeff Mautsach and Alejandro Sejanovich who worked together at Bodegas Catena Zapata. There, they pioneered high altitude plantings and the development of Malbec clones. Newton Johnson Family Vineyards – Hemel-en-Aarde

This family farm was founded in the mid-1990s by Cape Wine Master, Dave Johnson and his wife, Felicity (Née Newton) and within the past twenty years has built a reputation for producing some of the Cape's best Pinot Noir. Dave's CWM thesis was on the variety. Add to that one of the smartest Chardonnay's and, more recently a pair of outstanding Rhône style wines. The result? Well, three Patter Five Star wines in the current guide is a good benchmark to start with. Right from the outset, Dave and Felicity's off-spring were involved and today it is very much Gordon, partnered by his wife, Nadia, who are responsible for the winemaking, whilst Bevan looks after the commercial side.

Sijnn – Malgas

Everything is new about these ground-breaking wines in this brand new wine region. The vineyard lies to the east of Cape Agulhas between the hamlet of - Malagas and Cape Infanta 15 km from the ocean at the mouth of the Breede River, called Sijnn by the original Khoisan inhabitants of the region. Apparently, the land used to home an Ostrich farm! The idea behind Sijnn is to grow warm-climate varieties in this cool climate and, presumably, push things to the limit. The winemaker- David Trafford has long been an advocate of terroir and was inspired by the slate and rolled stone plateau on which this new vineyard sits. The area itself has been likened to the Douro Valley due to the soils and proximity to the Breede. Some of the grape varieties used in the Sijnn red wines, are therefore Portuguese varieties (Touriga Nacional and Trincadeira) which makes the wines all the more interesting. The reds are lively, complex and confident with lush dark fruits and the white is rich with honey on the nose and ripe stone fruits on the finish.

Capel Vale – Western Australia

10 years ago I was in Perth, Australia for my brother's wedding and this was one of the many producers we visited during our tour down under. I will always remember a barrel tasting of their Shiraz in the winery. 6 different barrels, all super smooth and complex, all a little different and totally delicious. We just had to ship them! Capel Vale is a family-owned winery that started planting vineyards in western Australia in 1974. The coastal regions of western Australia have a cooler, Mediterranean climate that brings elegance and finesse to the wines. They are immediately appealing with rich, ripe, complex and polished fruit – typically WA- and are restrained and mellow on the palate without being cloying or overblown. We love the Capel Vale wines!
